ABOUT THE FACILITATOR

Monsignor
Anthony Ziccardi
Mission and Ministry

Msgr. C. Anthony Ziccardi has been a faculty member in the Immaculate Conception Seminary School of Theology and a former Associate Dean. He received his licentiate in Sacred Scripture (S.S.L.) from the Pontifical Biblical Institute and his doctorate in Biblical Theology (S.T.D.) from the Pontifical Gregorian University. His dissertation was on the kingdom of God in Luke-Acts. Known for his keen insight, he serves as the facilitator of the University Seminar on Mission.

MEETING PAUL OF TARSUS: TEACHER OF THE NATIONS

Next to Jesus, the Apostle Paul is the most significant figure in the history of Christianity. Fully at home in Jewish, Greek, and Roman environments, Paul felt himself obligated to teach "Greeks and barbarians." Effectively developing and bringing the Christian message to diverse peoples, he became "the teacher of the nations in faith and truth." This seminar will explore Saint Paul's background, activity, thought and legacy. Come discover how this powerful and controversial figure still influences us and much of the world today.

Since 1998, the Center for Catholic Studies has provided the opportunity for faculty to reflect in depth on topics central to the purpose of teaching and learning at Seton Hall. This seminar is open to all administrators and faculty. Faculty participants who write a short response-essay will receive a stipend of $300. These essays will be collected and made available online at <http://scholarship.shu.edu/catholic-studies/>.
