English Concert Baroque Orchestra

Tuesday, October 18

Founded by Trevor Pinnock in 1973, the English Concert has appeared on the world's most famous stages, including the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, the Musikverein in Vienna, the Théâtre des Champs Élysées in Paris, the Philharmonie in Berlin, Carnegie Hall and Lincoln Center in New York, and the Grosse Festspielhaus in Salzburg. In a colorful Baroque program featuring Antonio Vivaldi's Concerto for Two Trumpets, the group opens our season with renowned Artistic Director, Harry Bicket.

The Musical World of John Singer Sargent

Thursday, November 17

Explore with us, through lecture, visual media, and concert performance, the musical thread that is woven through the life and work of American painter John Singer Sargent. With a diverse cast of Seton Hall faculty and special guest artists, including pianist Joseph Kalichstein, this program will feature Gabriel Fauré's Piano Quartet in C minor and Two Rhapsodies for Oboe, Viola, and Piano by Charles Martin Loeffler.

Guitarist Emanuele Segre and the Brooklyn Chamber Music Society in an all-Italian Program

Made possible through the generosity of Mr. Angelo Rancatti ('63, '68)

Tuesday, January 31

In a concert celebrating music of Italy, internationally acclaimed Italian guitarist Emanuele Segre joins the expert chamber musicians of the Brooklyn Chamber Music Society in a concert featuring the Boccherini Quintet No. 4 for Guitar and Strings ("Fandango"), the Paganini Guitar Quartet, and Tchaikovsky's beloved Souvenir de Florence.

Richard Goode, piano

Tuesday, March 20

One of today's leading interpreters of Classical and Romantic music, Richard Goode has been hailed for playing of tremendous emotional power, depth, and expressiveness. This Grammy-winning artist returns to the Seton Hall series in a program featuring Mozart, Beethoven, and Chopin.
