THE BERNARD J. LONERGAN INSTITUTE AT SETON HALL UNIVERSITY
ANNOUNCES THE PUBLICATION OF THE SECOND VOLUME OF
*The Lonergan Review

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. – The Bernard J. Lonergan Institute at Seton Hall University announces the publication of the Spring 2010 volume of its journal The Lonergan Review. This volume brings together the proceedings of the International Summit Conference of June, 2009, “Forging a New Economic Paradigm – Perspectives from Bernard Lonergan.” This summit convened experts from business, finance and academia to examine the writings on economics of the renowned philosopher- theologian Bernard J. Lonergan:

Cardinal Danielou speaks of the poor. It is a worthy topic, but I feel that the basic step in aiding them in a notable manner is a matter of spending one's nights and days in a deep and prolonged study of economic analysis.

Bernard J. Lonergan

Highlights of the Spring 2010 issue, include:

- Patrick Byrne on “The Economy: Mistaken Expectations”
- Eileen de Neeve on “Income Distribution in Economic Growth
- Philip McShane on “Imaging International Credit”
- Fred Lawrence on “Money, Institutions and the Human Good”
- and others...

To purchase a copy of The Lonergan Review, or to learn more about it, call (973) 275-2431 or e-mail: lonerganinstitute@sbu.edu

ABOUT THE BERNARD J. LONERGAN INSTITUTE

Bernard Lonergan, S.J. (1904-84) was a twentieth-century Catholic philosopher and theologian whom Newsweek magazine cited as among “the finest philosophical thinkers of the 20th century.” In November 2006, the Center for Catholic Studies at Seton Hall University launched the Bernard J. Lonergan Institute dedicated to the study of his ideas and their application in contemporary culture. The Institute is directed by Msgr. Richard M. Liddy and contains all Lonergan’s published works, copies of his most significant unpublished writing, doctoral dissertations on Lonergan’s work, the most significant secondary literature and Lonergan “memorabilia” including letters and photos. Please visit the Institute’s website at: <http://www.shu.edu/catholic-mission/lonergan/index.cfm>

ABOUT THE CENTER FOR CATHOLIC STUDIES

Dedicated to a dialogue between the Catholic intellectual tradition and all areas of contemporary culture, Seton Hall University's Center for Catholic Studies conducts an undergraduate degree program in Catholic Studies, offering a major, minor, certificate program and foreign study opportunities. In addition to presenting programs on faith and culture for students, faculty and the public, the Center incorporates the Bernard J. Lonergan Institute, the Micah Institute for Business and Economics, and the G.K. Chesterton Institute for Faith & Culture, with its prestigious journal, The Chesterton Review.
