National Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week November 15th-21st, 2009

Sunday, November 15th, 6pm, 8pm, 10pm, Chapel of the Immaculate Conception

Sunday Mass: The collection from each mass will benefit Covenant House, an organization that provides shelter and other services for homeless, runaway and throwaway youth. Additionally, "mass cards" will be distributed, featuring the story of a homeless person from St. John's Soup Kitchen.

Monday, November 16th, 8pm, Science Center Room 101

Faces of the Homeless Panel: Homeless teens from Covenant House New Jersey, a crisis center in Newark, will talk about their experiences with homelessness.

Tuesday, November 17, 7pm Campus Ministry Lounge (Basement of Boland Hall)

Hunger Banquet: Will you be fortunate to have dinner tonight? Come experience the reality of local poverty and world hunger.

Wednesday, November 18, 9am-4pm Main Lounge

Fair Trade Market: Students will have the opportunity to support artists from developing countries by shopping at a Fair Trade Market. All of the merchandise is the result of Fair Trade Principles. In conjunction with 10,000 Villages (a Fair Trade organization), participants will learn about what Fair Trade is and how Free Trade affects people in developing countries.

PB&J for the Hungry: Students will make 1,500 peanut butter and jelly sandwiches to take to Saint John's Soup Kitchen in Newark. Come see how something as small as making 1 sandwich can make a difference.

Thursday, November 19, 7pm Pirate's Cove

Kicking It: A screening of the film Kicking It, focusing on the Homeless World Cup. Witness the impact that soccer can have on teaching self-worth and reclaiming one's life. A poor man's supper of soup and bread will also be served.
