KNOW MORE Peer Educator

The Seton Hall University KNOW MORE Peer Educators are a group of undergraduate students who provide education and resources to the SHU community related to the responsible decision making around the use of alcohol and other drugs as well as sexual violence prevention. Peer Educators work directly with the Department of Student Life to receive comprehensive training through the Certified Peer Educator program. Through passive and active programming, Peer Educators work to shift societal norms and attitudes around drugs and alcohol, empower students to stand up and help their fellow Pirate, and provide education to end sexual violence.
