Announces the publication of Vol. XLV, Nos. 1 & 2, Spring Summer 2019

The Chesterton Review is the journal of the G. K. Chesterton Institute for Faith & Culture. It has been widely praised for both its scholarship and the quality of its writing. It was founded in 1974 to promote an interest in all aspects of Chesterton’s life, work, art and ideas, including his Christian apologetics.

About this issue

“The opposite of bad academic writing is good academic writing. Clarity, lucidity, elegance of expression: these are the intellectual virtues prized by Chesterton. They are also prized and, I hope, exemplified by The Chesterton Review.”

—Dermot Quinn,
Associate Editor

Included in this issue

This new issue of The Chesterton Review includes an Introduction by Dermot Quinn, pieces by G. K. Chesterton, Thomas M. Kettle and Stanley James. Articles by Geir Hasnes, Herman Goodden, Charles Fox, Miguel Benitez and Nathan Lefler. Book Reviews by Rev. Joseph Laracy, Joseph Pearce, Keith Hanley, James McGlone and Film Reviews by Jorge Iglesias. Numerous “News & Comments” items from a variety of sources, as well as Letters and Photo Galleries.

“The function of the imagination is not to make strange things settled, so much as to make settled things strange; not so much to make wonders facts as to make facts wonders.”

—G. K. Chesterton,
The Defendant

“There really is nothing like The Chesterton Review, and if there ever was, it existed in a bygone Golden Age of journals and magazines. They, however, are all dead. The Review abides.”

—Philip Jenkins
