

M.A. in Museum Professions

COLLEGE OF HUMAN DEVELOPMENT,
CULTURE, AND MEDIA

SETON HALL UNIVERSITY

Curate your future and join our elite group of alumni, employed throughout the country's most prestigious cultural institutions and organizations.

The College of Human Development, Culture, and Media's 39-credit M.A. in Museum Professions program is designed to both prepare students for careers in museums and cultural organizations and to further refine and enhance the current museum professional's skillset.

The curriculum provides opportunities to study in several advanced content areas, blending theory with practice and industry trends. Graduates are equipped with tangible skills that are essential for career growth, including effective communication; the management of people, projects and finance; and intercultural competence and cross-disciplinary thinking.

FLEXIBILITY FOR THE WORKING PROFESSIONAL Since many students in the program work full time, we offer convenient evening class times that often meet once per week. Our proximity to New York City puts you in a prime position to easily take advantage of world-class museums and robust internship opportunities.

ADVANCED CONTENT AREAS Explore courses in the areas of Museum Education, Museum Management, Museum Registration and Exhibition Development.
