Professor: Rev. Thomas G. Guarino, S.T.D.

An historical and systematic examination of the Catholic understanding of God's Self-Communication and humanity's correlative response in faith will be made in this course. Students will have an opportunity to focus on revelation: transmission of revelation; natural and supernatural revelation; Reformation and sola Scriptura; Trent and tradition; Newman on doctrinal development; and la nouvelle théologie and Vatican II. Students also will explore faith: grace and faith; faith and scholasticism; Luther and sola fides; Trent on fides fiducialis; Vatican I and rational preparation for the act of faith; Blondel and the apologetics of Immanence; and contemporary attempts (e.g., Rahner, Tracy, Metz) to ground the act of faith.

Rev. Thomas G. Guarino, S.T.D., Professor of Systematic Theology, received an S.T.L. and an S.T.D. at The Catholic University of America. His current research focuses on the area at the borderline of philosophy and theology. His teaching seeks to communicate to students the richness of the Catholic intellectual tradition while highlighting the intense commitment of Catholicism to ecumenical and inter-religious dialogue, and, indeed, to fruitful and charitable exchanges with all men and women, regardless of belief.
