Professor: Rev. Msgr. John A. Radano. Ph.D

Course Description: A systematic and historical examination of the doctrine of the Triune God: dialectical nature of God as both hidden and revealed, immanent and transcendent; attributes and perfections of God; Patristic and Conciliar debates about the nature of the Trinity; persons, processions, relations and missions within the Godhead; speculation in relation to the “economic” and “immanent” Trinity, as well as contemporary retrievals of psychological analogies.

Rev. Msgr. John A. Radano. Ph.D, Adjunct Professor of Theology, earned his Ph.D. from the Aquinas Institute of Theology Dubuque, 1971. He has participated in the North American Academy of Ecumenists, and two international assemblies of the World Conference on Religion and Peace. He served as member of the Pax Romana (a Catholic NGO) delegation at the United Nations. He attended, in an NGO capacity, the first UNO world conferences on Population (1974, Bucharest, Romania), and on Human Settlements (1976, Canada). He served in the Pontifical Council for Promoting Christian Unity (PCPCU), Vatican City, and in 1985, Pope John Paul II appointed him as head of that Pontifical Council’s Western Section. In 1985, the PCPCU named him liaison with the Commission on Faith and Order of the World Council of Churches, and member, in 1988, of the Joint Working Group between the Catholic Church and the World Council of Churches. Monsignor Radano has numerous publications. His Ecclesiastical Appointments include Papal Chaplain in 1986 and prelate of Honor in 1993 by Saint Pope John Paul II and in 2008 Pope Benedict XVI appointed him Protonotary Apostolic Supernumerary.
